Operation Adelmo

New Town Theatre 17 - 28 August @ 17.30 Adelmo Guidarelli

"Operation Adelmo" is (almost) a solo performance by Adelmo Guidarelli who is accompanied by a very skilled pianist onstage. His glamorous assistant does everything from handing props to playing the trombone – all with a bright, red sequined dress and fixed smile that would not be out of place in a Marilyn Monroe movie! There is no doubting his obvious talent in singing opera and his knowledge of this oft maligned art form as Guidarelli guides us through the history and form of opera. He skilfully sings the arias and explains the highlights with a number of costume changes along the way. Some unsuspecting audience members are drawn into the songs and a singalong turns into a plea for help from the assistant! The highlight of the show is a sextet with puppets – one on each hand; one on each side with strings and one somewhere else! His intention is to educate and entertain.
